Board Adopts Retrenchment Policy

Faced with a shrinking school income and a growing school population, the Board has been forced to retrench. To this end, they have abolished manual training in elementary schools; limited the medical department to one trained nurse; reduced the music, art, and physical education departments; increased the load of each teacher by making classes larger; postponed purchasing new equipment wherever possible; cut salaries and the teaching staff; put first and second grades on a half-day basis; and cut the length of the junior high school day.

Mr. Joseph H. Moon, manager of the Riker Building, is president of the Board. Mr. Moon, whose term expires in 1941, is an ardent baseball fan. He attends the World's Series whenever possible.

Mr. H. L. Blackwood, a realtor with offices in the Riker Building, was president of the Board last year. A graduate of Pontiac Senior High School, he settled down in Pontiac and devotes his time to his family.

Mr. Milo D. McLintock, serving his second term on the board, practices law and has offices in the Pontiac Bank Building. Residing at Silver Lake, he enjoys sailing; and we hear, he is quite expert.

Mr. Louis H. Schimmel is manager of the Bond Holders Advisory Counsel. Mr. Schimmel owns a small farm. He grows peanuts, squash and vegetables to teach his children how these are grown.

Mr. E. O. Slater is secretary of the Board. He, too, is a graduate of Pontiac Senior High School. He is a practicing lawyer.

Mr. W. Archie Parker, aside from being a very busy man at Brown Brothers Book Store, is an ardent sports fan. Being vice-president of the Board and president of the City Recreational League does not keep him from attending all high school games.

Mr. F. N. Thiefels, who is hard to find during working hours at Wilson Foundry, was elected to the Board this year. Mr. Thiefels is very musically inclined. He is a tenor soloist in St. Vincent de Paul Roman Catholic Church and a director of the choir.

Principal

"How many have the first hour vacant?"

When balancing classes at the beginning of the year, this question is invariably asked by Mr. John Thors, Jr., principal of Pontiac Senior High School. Because he is calm but firm during these hectic days, he earns respect and admiration for smoothly administering an organization of over three thousand people.

MR. THORS

Superintendant

After receiving his degree from the University of Michigan, Mr. Robert B. French was a classroom teacher in several Michigan and Illinois schools. Before being appointed superintendent of the Pontiac schools, he was superintendent at Berkley and principal at Hamtramck.

Assistants

Frank J. DuFrain, assistant superintendent of schools, tends to the financial affairs of the Pontiac school system. Formerly he was principal of the high school.

Excused, not truant, and truant are comparable to morning, noon, and night in the daily schedule of assistant principal, Mr. J. C. Covert. Students always find him agreeable, even after he has changed the programs of hundreds of them.

Pedagogues Gather Their Wits to Begin New Year....

Pet mannerisms and sayings and stuff! . . . . At any hour of the day Mr. Graff may be heard to say, "If you don't like the machines, sweetheart, just bust 'em up" . . . . "Check the instruments," pipes up Mr. Shara . . . . Miss Waterman often laments, "Oh, my feet!" . . . . Viola, "No cooperation" . . . . "Be conversational," by Miss Hiller . . . . "Quiet girls," for Mrs. Rentfrow in study hall . . . . Mr. Snyder says, "The bookstore is my pride and joy" . . . . Smead, "Hell's bells" . . . . And Mr. Wargelin, those dimples . . . . Mr. Kader with a cheery hello for everyone . . . . "Let's have it quiet now," demands Miss O'Hara.

Mr. Mercado with his, "Of course you're smarter than I'll ever be" . . . . Grand radio set, Mr. Brown . . . . "Different headline," echoes Miss Day . . . .

"Smile and the world smiles with you" is the vivid expression on Laurel's countenance. By the way LaLonde, who is the handsome chap that has attracted your attention? Brendel seems to be fatigued. What's a matta — huh? Too much night life? Among your midst we trace the ever challenging trait of shyness to Gerry Gordon and Gopigian. Now listen Davis don't sneer that way at the little birdie. Get off your knees Cappell, you're surrounded by dazzling damsels. We call that a modest pose Miller. Jammie act your age — don't shrink away as if you saw a colorful tiger. Straight and staunch stands Kennerly. Stripes have got us, haven't they Johnson? Why Humphrey we're ashamed of you, bringing your purse . . . . Don't you trust any one? A slick and snappy bow tie was found on Pratt. Watch that swinging skirt Sharpley. We don't want any "Gone with the Wind" portraits. Too bad Hotchkiss, we'll get you next time. Neatly pressed trousers give you away Hancock. The final sketch would have been an all male cast except for the intervention of two meddling maidens. Well, well— Lemos we can't get rid of you, can we? The roving eye paces down the aisle and catches a glimpse of the attractive Hooker. Now Gus Asselin give us a beaming, a radiant Richard Greene smile. Speaking of movie stars, the "Oscars" go to Seaks and Adamczyk.

There're those Sisson twins again . . . . We wonder what the general onlookers are so interested in . . . . Why did you close your eyes Patty Ann Moses? . . . . The world has another "Popeye" imitator in the personage of Mr. Lowes . . . . Don't look worried Helen Sanders. It isn't going to rain . . . . Blonde Betty Price seems to think something's funny . . . They say Miss Carie's in the picture, but we can't find her . . . . Stop looking so coy Alice Applegate . . . . We see you Simoni . . . . Are Misses Mazurka and Sutton in love? . . . . Was it too funny, "Bev" Opdyke? . . . . Audrey Sauter sure looks sweet enough to eat . . . . Whatever is attracting the subjects of the lower left hand photo? Could it be a blonde? . . . . The sun seems to be a little too bright for Mr. Marsh. We're awfully sorry . . . . Barbara Hoard and Mary Ann Wrenn don't seem to be camera shy at all. Isn't it swell to have a photogenic face!!! . . . . A pretty string of pearls Miss Couretas . . . . Lil' Lady Spittle looks awful scared. Did a big bad picture-taker frighten her? . . . . Wonder what Jo-Anne Herzberg is so happy about? . . . . Jim Spence looks like he's waiting for lunch. Ring, bell, ring, or something!!! . . . . Stop peeking Miss Riley. We want to see you . . . Sir Robert Clark does strike up a dignified pose when he wants to, doesn't he girls? . . . A little more pep Miss Sapp. Thanks!!! . . . .

Intelligentia's capacity increased even though

Trim and neat stands Miss Clark . . . . Sirbaugh is cuddling up — Could it be that she's cold? . . . . Don't look so sorrowful Willie — the camera won't bite . . . . Must be that Marion Lively takes good side poses or she wants to know the bits of gossip exchanged by McKinstry and McKinley . . . . There's that famous Hire grin . . . . That a boy Papazian, just like the State Police . . . . Again we see Murphy and McPartlin, the inseparable Irishmen . . . . Thelma looks as demure as her sister Fern did . . . . Lindquist says: "Oh no, you can't take it now . . . . I'm not ready!" . . . . Careful Devor you'll swallow that tongue. Miss Braasch left school and this looks like the start of her disappearing act . . . . Strong, silent man Daugherty bored as usual. Madame Verhine seems to be pert but in reality just a French gal. Charming Anderson brings spots before our eyes. Norris is looking awfully tough for his size. We even have an isolationist party — we give you Mr. Swain . . . . Louie and Hagoph may be cousins but they certainly are not pleased with our campus view . . . . Ah, we finally spied the "Clarence Darrow" of our day . . . . Koorken. Even Barnett found the answer to the Civil War question . . . . What time is it Ashley? . . . . Pilcher must have seen a worm wriggling about. Come on — cheer up Latozas. A full ballot was cast for Miss Duffey's resemblance to Mrs. Keuthe . . . . Is your hair natural curly, Young? It sure is nifty . . . . The sister of the Gallardos looks very scholarly . . . .

Don't look now folks but it looks as if Mr. Huffman is — well should we say chilly . . . . So! you're day-dreaming again, Mr. Neikirk. Life is just one long period of joy, isn't it Mr. Paconette? . . . . Miss Bowen, you certainly look lonesome in the back row. Is it because you are short? . . . . By the expression on Mr. Mulholland's face, having your picture taken is a very serious business. Are we right? . . . . Mr. Duckett believes that as long as you have to pose for your picture why not make it a good pose. It's quite alright, we all wish we could do our posing that well . . . . Before you forget, please look at picture number two—it looks like a national convention and because of that we were unable to identify the students. Better luck next time!

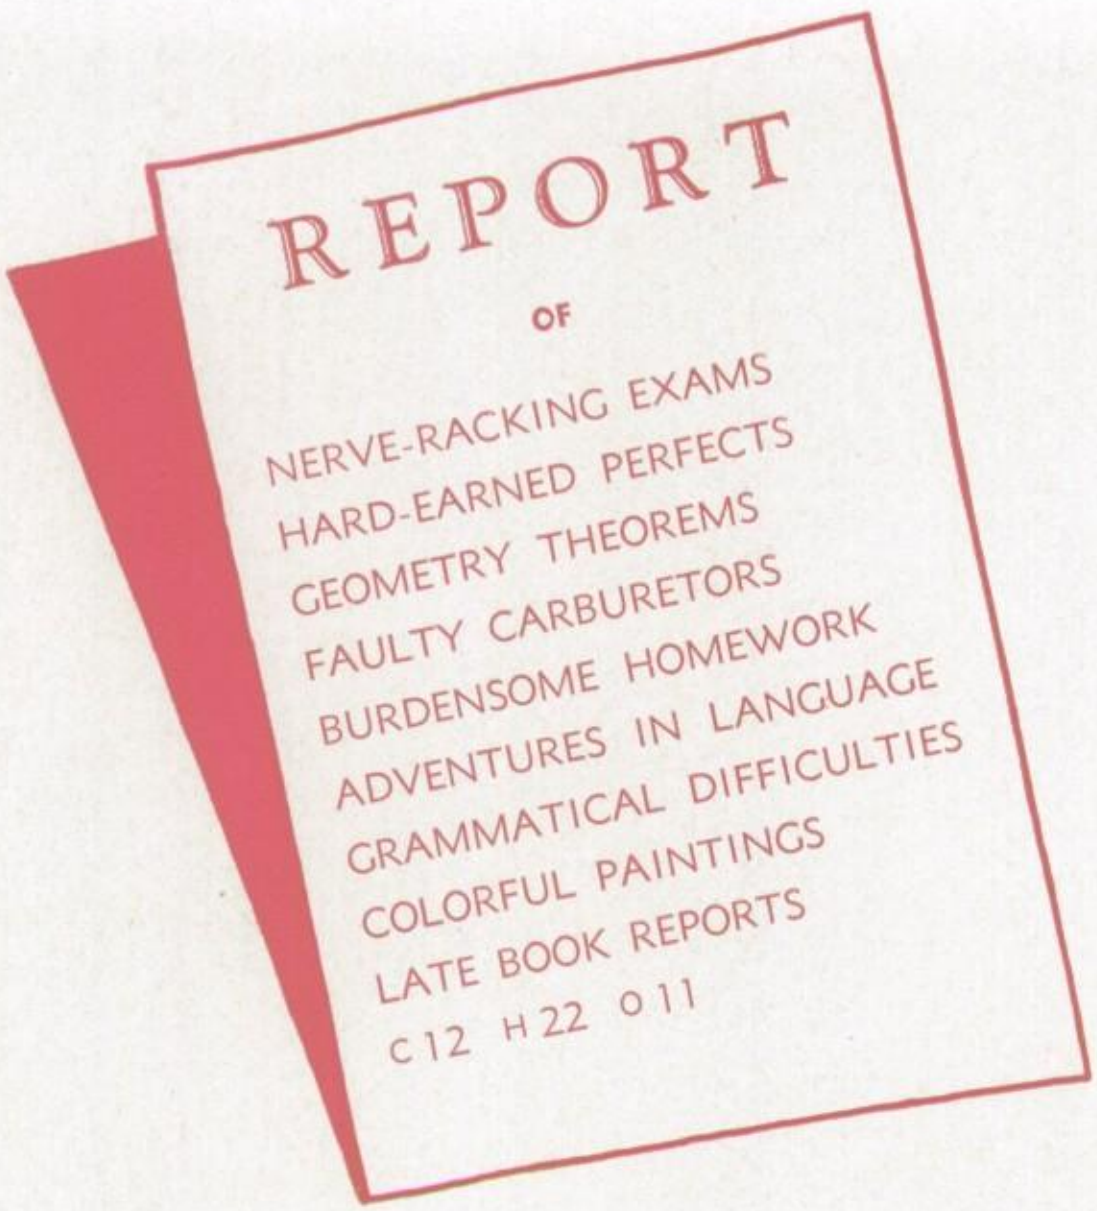
Hear ye,

Forever recall your  pages of tumult and sorrow. You face school-masters with new-fangled  You gaze at harmless And you petted a garden Geometry wasn't the right dish so you chose a dessert like trig. Even Brutus was given  of Ah, how you admired chiefs of Tomahawk How you envied uniforms. Although the modest maidens couldn't wear there was a gala J-Hop . . . . Orchids to our brethen . . . . we saying.

Ray Wells and David Broberg displayed the art of roasting wienies at the Student Union picnic while Carol Peruchi showed up equally well eating doughnuts and drinking cider. The sophomores were assigned but they had their bright futures forecasted at the 10B Mixer and once more the path ahead of them looked rosy. Still, in another corner the grave stones of their more unfortunate friends acted as a reminder to be better students in the future. The J-Hop was also a gala affair where Charlotte Eller and James Nederlander could be seen admiring the technique of Miss Waterman and Mr. Hetherington while Betty Boardman gazed longingly at the bright Confucious decorations.



EACH SEMESTER'S BEGINNING FINDS THE OFFICE CROWDED WITH IMPATIENT STUDENTS WHO ARE REARRANGING PROGRAMS, BUYING BOOK CARDS, PAYING FOR LOCKER FEES, TOWEL FEES AND BREAKAGE COSTS.

Departments

What does the student do during his school day? Many people often wonder whether or not the student does anything other than have the good time about which he tells at home. These next few pages graphically illustrate the most important phase of a student's day, the subjects he takes in the departments of the school.

Mathematics occupies an important part in the course of study of the majority of high school students. The subjects have excellent practical and intellectual value.

No matter what life work one chooses, some form of mathematics is involved. Engineers—civil, automotive, or otherwise—are required to have an understanding of this subject. Commercial work in any form is based on mathematics.

Plane geometry covers two semesters of work. Geometry offers theorems and propositions in order to find the width, length, area or any other size of a plane geometrical figure. Circles, triangles, squares, prisms, and rectangles are a few of the many figures used in plane geometry.

Solid geometry is a one semester course and the work resembles that of plane geometry. It deals with the relationship between lines and planes and, particularly, with solid figures such as prisms, pyramids, cylinders, cones, and spheres.

We now have a full year of algebra in our system. This is a continuation of the algebra taken in junior high. Algebra III consists of a review of algebra I and II and is followed by a study of quadratic equations, graphing and radicals. Algebra IV is the study of the binomial theorem, ratio and proportion, logarithms, and a number of other topics.

Trigonometry is the highest form of mathematics offered in our high school. Trigonometry is in part concerned with the indirect measurement of distances, the measurement of triangles, and the functions of angles. Trigonometry is the cumulation, one might say, of all high school mathematics. You do not study geometry, you use it. So it is with algebra, you do not study it; but use it in this course of trigonometry.

Because trigonometry is the highest mathematics in our school does not mean it is the highest that can be studied. By no means have you finished mathematics when you have studied all of the courses here, but merely scratched the surface. You have, however, received very commendable instructions from the teachers of our mathematics department, and a foundation of which anyone might be proud.

Next, to persons who spend their time in the commercial department, these expressions are familiar: "Have you enough perfects for an A? Do your accounts balance? How many pages of shorthand practice do you have?" Graduates from the commercial department of our school will find themselves well suited to enter business offices. Typewriting is one of the most generally useful subjects offered to students, for today all phases of endeavor demand the typewritten copy. The course in calculation is machine arithmetic taught on the comptometer and Burrough Calculator. Besides these the students have an opportunity to operate billing machines and bookkeeping machines.

Bookkeeping trains the student to analyze, systematically record, and interpret business transactions of an individual or business. This requires a good knowledge of fundamental mathematics. The objective of filing is to learn to file cards, letters, and records in alphabetical or numerical order. Shorthand gives the student practice in taking dictation and transcribing letters neatly, accurately, and artistically.

There are other courses offered in high school which deal specifically with phases of business education. Commercial arithmetic offers the arithmetic that is adapted to the needs of the business world. Business English emphasizes the right attitudes toward the reader and the writing of effective business letters. The legal terms and rules under which corporations and business firms function are studied in commercial law. Students in commercial geography study the industries and the commerce of the various countries. A recent and popular offering is the course in consumer education.

The purpose of the industrial education department is to assist students interested in industrial trades in preparing themselves for future employment in technical occupations. The specializing courses offered by the department are for those students who possess tool ability and who are willing to progress in the related instruction, including technical mathematics and science.

The department offers major curriculums in six trades; drafting (including tool and die design, layout, and builders drawing), pattern shop, automotives, machine shop, metal working (including metal fabrication, and sheet metal work), and printing. Each of these programs prepares a student to enter an apprenticeship in one of the trades in which he is specializing. The following courses offered by the department give a general idea of the type of work offered to specializing students. Other subjects available to students are of the same general nature.

Drafting gives the draftsman a chance to draw or depict the mechanical idea which he wishes to convey to the pattern maker. The student must learn to make these drawing as comprehensive as possible.

A course in pattern shop is offered for those desiring to make tools. The student first makes a layout from a drawing. From this he makes a wood pattern which serves to form a mold. This mold is made in sand into which molten metal is poured, thus producing a casting.

Machine shop is an introductory course for students preparing an industrial occupation. Here one learns to machine the castings which are molded in pattern shop.

The operation and function of the automobile is studied in auto mechanics. The advanced students are given practical experience in servicing and repairing automobiles.

Printing requires a correct knowledge of punctuation. Along with this a student must learn the lay of the case, methods of spacing, indentation, etc. After two semesters he is allowed to do more practical work.

Welding gives the student practice in fusing metals together with the application of heat. But first he must learn to operate torches and learn the reaction of certain metals under heat. This course is taken with metal fabrication work for the welding together of small machine tools.

The first step in sheet metal work is to make a drawing of the desired project. Then the drawing is transformed to a job layout plan. From this the student makes the project in sheet metal.

Architectural drawing is aimed to give the student a knowledge of good construction, interior arrangement, and a general idea of building design. This course includes the study of foundations, stairways, floor plans, interior details, and many other topics related to the construction industry.

Materials imparts a knowledge of materials used in industry. It explains the production and conversion of raw materials. Although this is only a related subject it is found to be of value to anyone in industrial classes.

These numerous courses make up the industrial department of our school and are highly valued by any student who studies them.

Visitors to our home economics department might find anything from patterns to can-openers in any one of the home economics classes. But this might be expected for students in these classes learn how to make a home in the most practical and economic way.

Sciences Prove Entertaining as Well as Helpful

The primary object of the clothing classes is to sew well. This in itself is only a portion of the various subjects offered in this course. Students learn to use commercial patterns of varied types. This also means choosing patterns most becoming to his or her particular character or type. In order to dress well one must know how to match colors; therefore various color combinations are studied to determine the best one for certain persons. Economy is another factor worthy of consideration, consequently a clothing budget is made. Darning and patching are great helps in keeping down this budget for just because clothes are patched or darned they are not worn out.

One might think that foods contains only the study of cooking but there are many subjects connected with it. First of all a budget for food is made out, which if conformed to, cuts the cost of groceries a great deal. Then a menu, which is not only tasty but healthful and nutritious, is made out. Next the problem of cooking confronts the students, which is easily overcome by them under the efficient direction of the instructor of this subject. In learning to serve correctly members of these classes serve all types of meals which gives them practical experience. Also due to the number of girls taking care of children, a short time is spent in child development. There is a little time spent in making out personal and family budgets. With these varied subjects one can readily see that this course is not a cooking class but rather a class in home making.

Upon investigating our social science department we find that we are fortunate in having an unusually diversified social science curriculum in our high school. One year of U. S. history is required for graduation. This history covers the U. S. from the time of the discovery of America to the present day. Modern history deals with the highlights of world events beginning with the first of the eighteenth century and leading up to the present day.

Civics occupies an important part in the training of our young people to become better citizens. One delves into the powers of the three branches of our democracy namely—the executive, the legislative, and the judicial. A great many opportunities arise for outside work and extra reports during the required semester of civics.

American Problems is primarily concerned with our problems at home. As you know these are many so there is no lack of study material. Students find it up to date and many interesting discussions arise.

In addition to the subjects briefly outlined, economics, consumer education, and internation relations are offered.

In all social science classes we devote one hour a week to discussing the articles in the "American Observer."

Most Latin, French, or Spanish students know the meaning of these phrases: "Veni, vidi, vici"; "Parlez-vous Francais?"; "Como se llama usted." Perhaps they seem strange and mean little to you; however, if you were to enroll in any foreign language class you would come to clearly understand the meaning and significance of one of them. This is one of the many accomplishments of our foreign language department.

Foreign Language Helpful in Understanding English Grammar

Latin is the most widely studied language. Many people think that this is a dead language, but it lives in our mother-tongue and in many modern languages. Our English vocabulary is derived to a great extent from Latin. This should be of interest to any student who is desiring to better his understanding of English. It also gives him a better command of English grammar. In addition to these many advantages one comes in contact with all the phases of an ancient civilization, and gains a better appreciation of classic and modern literature.

Spanish and French offer very few more benefits than does Latin although they are living languages. The student learns to read, speak, and write the languages, with ease. The more accurate pronunciation needed in these two tongues leads to a better pronunciation of English. In translating one finds need of a review of English grammar and a more extensive vocabulary. The customs and manners of the people are also studied in these courses. The pupil realizes from this the cause of certain actions of the people and sympathizes with their beliefs. After the completion of these courses leisure time can be more advantageously spent in reading novels and plays and in delving into the history of these people.

A course in conversational German meets after school on designated nights but receives no academic credit. It is hoped that in the near future this class will be installed as a regular subject, thus adding another subject to our well tutored foreign language department.

Then too, we hear these expressions: "Beowulf must be a modern superman! Say, Little John certainly is clever! I like Chaucer's way of spelling!" They may be heard in any English VI class, for they are related to the various degrees of literature studied in this course. Many similar phrases may be heard in other English classes concerning their studies.

Through the efforts of the members of the faculty who teach English, the students are trained in not only cultural respects, but also in the practical values of such a course. The cultural aspect of English are brought to the students through the study of plays, poetry, and literature. The outside reading of books also aids in this phase of the course. The utilitarian values of English emphasize the importance of the use of correct speech, which includes an extensive vocabulary plus a knowledge of the correct usage of words. The possession of the knowledge of correct speech often serves as the first step in the ladder of success.

Apprentices Happily at Work Under Satisfied Employers

Biology and Physics Have a Definite Appeal to Students

A double track system of instruction in English is now in operation. Those students who plan to continue their education in colleges after their graduation attend classes in which the classics are the basis of study. The students who will not continue their education after high school graduation but will take up positions in the business world are instructed in a more business-like English course. This diversified method of teaching English places the course on a more practical basis and an increase in interest in the course is shown by the students.

The cultural phase of English plays a prominent part in the future social, political, and economic life of the student. Because of its daily use throughout the country, the importance of commercial English cannot be over-emphasized.

The Apprectice Training Program is an attempt to meet the demands of young men and women between the ages of 16 and 20 who desire specialized training in occupations in which they would like to earn a living as an adult. This is accomplished by giving school instruction in the field in which a student desires to specialize, and to provide him with practical experience in his chosen occupation through the cooperation of business and industry.

In addition to being an aid to students, the program also is of value to business, industry, and the trades by providing a constant flow of young well-trained men and women into well-paid technical fields to replace skilled men and women who die or retire.

An apprentice attends school in the morning, taking only the required subjects for graduation and those courses which will broaden his knowledge of the trade. In the afternoon he works for an accredited employer, who agrees to help the boy or girl in the practical aspects of the trade, and also to pay a starting wage of at least 25% of a trained workman's wage which cannot be less than $ .20 per hour, with an increase every 6 months until completion of the apprenticeship at which time the apprentice will receive the prevailing wage for a trained workman. This training lasts from 2 to 5 years, depending upon the occupation in which the student is apprenticed. Before the apprentice is accepted by the employer he must be at least 16 years old, have 2 years high school work, and have from 6 weeks to 3 months probation. After graduation from high school, the apprentice is required to go to school 4 hours per week until his program of apprenticeship is completed.

As was mentioned before, opportunities for apprentice training are very numerous. At the present time apprentices are engaged in the following occupations: floriculture, newspaper work, cabinet making, electricity, machinist, tool and die making, body layout, carpentry, masonry, commercial art, office practice, and store training of all kinds.

Since the introduction of speech training in high schools and colleges in the United States about twenty years ago, speech courses have been greatly broadened. Contrary to the belief of many students, speech is not simply a course in public speaking but includes argumentation and discussion, story telling, debate, dramatics, radio, conversation, and personality development. To get along in any field, one must have a knowledge of the facts of the problem, an extensive vocabularly, and the ability to organize and express one's thoughts. Speech training seeks to accomplish these things.

Since these three things are vital in any subject field, it seems, then, that speech training fits in with all other high school work.

Pontiac Senior High School is fortunate in having a well-rounded speech curriculum, in fact, one of the best in the state. Training in speech is essential if students are to become capable citizens in a democracy. In order to develop a person's willingness and ability to cooperate with others in our democratic society, he must be trained to speak effectively and to respect other people's opinions. We influence the actions and beliefs of others by communicating our ideas to them.

However, the classrooms of other subjects have become the scenes in which a larger part of the knowledge obtained through a speech course are put into use. This is shown by the fact that a student who can answer questions effectively usually is the one that gets higher marks.

This is why we consider speech training an important part of a high school education.

Soap carving, charcoal portraits, lettering, and perspective drawings are only a few of the many projects art students struggle through. The department's work covers two distinct types of art, commercial art and free-hand drawing.

All styles of lettering, captivating color schemes, and posters are the outstanding topics that commercial art students attempt to master. School activities, local stores, and civic movements offer many opportunities for actual experience in this phase of art. This work tends to develop the natural ability of the student in the more practical aspect of such a field.

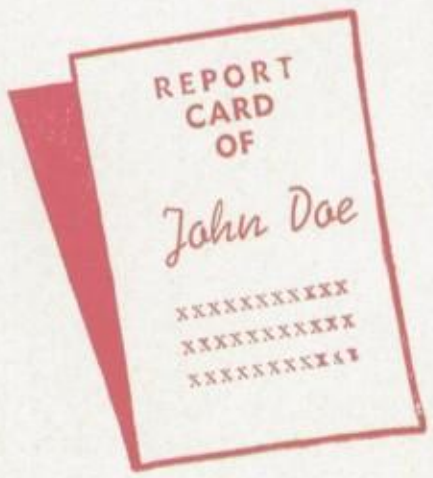
Free-hand drawing covers a larger area than does commercial art and differs from it in many respects. Plaster of Paris work, water colors, and artistic designs are a few of the various subjects included in this course. This gives the student opportunities to cultivate his creative instincts to a higher degree.

To Mr. Bourziel, "the champion baton-buster of Pontiac Senior High School," should go all praises for the success attained by the vocal department in the two preceding semesters.

In these vocal classes the main objective is to cultivate a more extensive knowledge of music, but the meaning and origin of music is included in the study of this course also.

In the course of Vocal I, the study of the folk songs of all races is pursued. The continuation of this course serves as a basis for Vocal II. The A Capella Choir is the goal of all vocal classes.

Although the music courses do grant academic credit to all students taking these classes, the extra-curricular activities in which many members of vocal participate afford excellent opportunities for pleasure and practice. These outside organizations include the two Glee Clubs, both boys' and girls', and the Girls' Triple Trio. These clubs are extremely active for their work includes several public appearances outside of school.



Finally, science is also of great value to those students who plan to continue their education in college. Although only one year of any science course is required for graduation, many students become greatly interested in their first science course and elect the other science courses. The courses which are offered to Pontiac Senior High School students are biology, chemistry, physics, and senior science.

Biology is the study of life and deals with the structure and characteristics of living plants and animals. Students taking this course delve into the "unknown" by means of microscopes and through their observation in the great outdoors they learn many things of interest.

Students taking chemistry study the composition of matter. Their classes meet not only in the lecture room but also in the laboratory where actual experiments are made. The study of chemistry is indeed one of interest.

The third science course offered to students of Pontiac Senior High School is physics, a subject dealing with mechanics, heat, light, sound, magnetism, and electricity. As a basis for the study of physics an adequate knowledge of mathematics should be had.

Organizations

New Monitor System Inaugurated by Active Student Governing Body

"One, two, three, kick! Conga your partner around the room. Have you a permit to be out in the hall? I move that the students stop parading all over the school campus."

Before 1925, the year in which Mr. John Thors, Jr. innaugurated our Student Council, such remarks would not have been heard because there was no organization through which the students could voice their opinions or take part in democratic school administration. Since then, however, representatives have been elected from each homeroom. These have met regularly to voice the needs of the students and to see that regulations which were necessary were formulated, instituted, and observed.

Because of the crowded conditions, due to the increase in school enrollment, the Council installed a monitor system for the purpose of maintaining order, relieving congestion, and greeting visitors.

Because it was felt that there was desire for instruction in dancing and social etiquette, the Student Council introduced a dancing class under the direction of a professioal dancer. In the meantime, a dance and a combined parents-teachers-Student Council dinner, the first of its kind, were successfully sponsored.

Mr. James C. Covert is the faculty advisor for the Student Council.

STUDENT UNION PICNIC

Along with the work of running the Student Union plan efficiently, the staff has various outings. One of the big highlights this year was a picnic at their adviser's home at Watkins Lake. Boating, hiking, and plenty of food filled the program for the day.

Union Hits New High as Membership Reaches Fourteen-Hundred Mark

"What happened to the ticket list? Is there an assembly today? Let's calm it down and get to work. We have Tomahawks to deliver!"

These familiar words ring in the ears of the members of the Student Union staff whose work consists of placing school athletics, the Tomahawk, and the Quiver in the student limelight by bringing these advantages within the reach of even the smallest purses. By acting cooperatively, members participate in a well-rounded extra-curricular program at approximately one-half the price that these Union-sponsored activities would cost if purchased separately.

The staff is headed by Clarence Carlson, manager, assisted by the following staff members; Damaris Rowston, assistant manager; Anne Shortt, secretary-treasurer; Carol Peruchi, collections; and Norene Spencer, files. Mr. Steffek serves as faculty adviser.

"Go away and let me work," seems to be the attitude taken by Clarence Carlson, Student Union manager, as he looks up from his desk in the Student Union office.

Hosts with Girl Reserves to Eager Sophomores at 10-B Mixer

Peanuts! Candy! Frostbites! No, the Hi-Y boys aren't eating again: they're really selling these snacks whenever the opportunity presents itself to earn money for their annual scholarship and "Blowout."

The scholarship is awarded to the boy who, in the opinion of the club and the faculty, is the most deserving.

The "Blowout" is not a flat tire as the name implies. Quite the contrary, it is a flashy party of the picnic variety, held at the most convenient place that the boys can find for raising the roof.

Another Hi-Y activity which is sponsored jointly with the Girl Reserves is the 10B Mixer, a party given to get the sophomores acquainted with each other. This year it was a Valentine's Party.

During the year the Hi-Y Club sends representatives to the Older Boys' Conference, a gathering of Hi-Y members from all over the state. Problems of youth are discussed while a grand time is had.

The officers were as follows:

Girls Strive to Raise Money for Pledged Scholarship

In their efforts to serve others, the Girl Reserves award a scholarship annually to an outstanding girl. If you have been pestered by girls asking you to buy a megaphone or an identification card holder, remember that it was all for a good cause. In addition to this, the girls climb over innumerable feet just to sell one frostbite or candy bar at the basketball games. In spirit with the times, the girls use their generous fathers' gas distributing Thanksgiving baskets and Christmas toys. As the bashful 10-B's need help in getting acquainted, each semester the Hi-Y and Girl Reserves sponsor a 10-B Mixer with dancing, refreshments, and entertainment.

However, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." That's why The Girl Reserves and Hi-Y got together again — this time for fun. Many catastrophes were seen at Buckhorn Lake where they held their first party of the year. As a result of their toboganning, these funlovers were not seen sitting for a week. Refreshments and dancing followed the toboganning by those who were able to indulge.

After Harriet Easton, president of the club the first semester, graduated, Betty Lou Long assumed the presidential duties. The other officers include Jewell Peterson as vice-president, Archolose Godoshian as secretary, and Joyce Johnson as treasurer. As a result of Miss Waterman's guidance of the club, Girl Reserves has obtained a prominent place in the school.

Band Leads Athletic Teams on to Victory

Doesn't Howard Barling bear up well under the weight of his shako.

"I love a parade," and who doesn't when that parade consists of Pontiac Senior High's bright band boys sporting those snappy orange and black uniforms with Howard Barling out in front twirling the baton. But they do not limit themselves to lending spice to all athletic occasions for they have had a full and busy year. They participated in the Southeastern Michigan Band and Orchestra Festival, the Saginaw Valley Festival, and the State Festival. They made the annual spring Band and Orchestra Concert a top notch event this year. So outstanding was their work that they were called upon to broadcast twice on the Pontiac station.

Orchestra Swings Out and Captures First Division Titles

But please don't get the impression that the band is the only first class musical division around here as the orchestra is just as outstanding in its field. Last year this group received the only first division rating in the District Festival and was one of the two schools that received First Division in the State Festival. Its two most important school events are playing for the National Honor Society Assembly and furnishing music for the annual school play. Both of these organizations are guided by Mr. Dale Harris who is known throughout the state for his excellent work in high school music.

Glee Clubs Join to Feature Four-Part Music Training

"The Deacon Went Down" might be called the theme song of the Boys' Glee Club, but the boys do know other music. Any boy who can carry a tune may become a member. The only catch is that he must maintain a "C" average. The first semester these boys were led by Kenneth Person, president; Bill Walters, vice president; Roger Williams, secretary; and John Anderson, treasurer. The second semester Bill Walters was president; John Anderson, vice president; Roger Williams, secretary; and Louis Taylor, treasurer. The accompanist was Wanda Tuffin. During the spring the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs combined on Fridays to form a chorus which sang for the Civic Lecture Club on March 12.

"Hum middle C!" That's usually the starting command given by Mr. Bourziel to the Girls' Glee Club which now numbers fifty-five. Darlene Bowman or Helen Sanders starts playing the piano, and rehearsal is on. They must maintain a "C" average. Heading the club the first semester were: Ethyle Pritchard, president; Sarah Hollister, vice president; Agnes Fortney, recording secretary; Anne Shortt, corresponding secretary; Betty Lou Long, treasurer. The second semester the officers were: Dorothea Warrilow, president; Lucy Zartarian, vice president; Carolyn Leddick, recording secretary; Marjorie Keller, corresponding secretary; and Betty Lou Long, treasurer.

Choir Celebrates Fifth Anniversary at Annual Spring Concert

The Pontiac High School Choir is the top-notch vocal organization in the school. The conductor is Mr. Bourziel, and the accompanist is Helen Sanders. The regular choir consists of fifty members. The following engagements are standing obligations: Baccalaureate Services, Christmas Concert and Pageant, Spring Concert, and the Saginaw Valley Festival. Outside of these the Choir also sang for the Civic Lecture Club, World Day of Peace service at the Central Methodist Church, and for the students of Washington Junior High School. Recently a Madrigal group who sang over the radio and made several recordings was formed from the first and second chair members of the Choir. Singing scales, learning new compositions, rehearsing, dashing off to give a concert are all in a day's work for these folks.

TRIPLE TRIO

Every Monday and Wednesday afternoon, seventh hour, music may be heard emanating from the door and windows of room 127. It's the Triple Trio practicing for their engagements. These girls are selected from the Glee Club and Choir for their all-around musical ability. Kaye Teng is their manager and Agnes Fortney and Roma Rosasky have held the position of secretary-treasurer. The accompanist is Helen Noll. The girls sang for many teas, parties, church functions, and assemblies.

MUSIC ASSISTANTS

"Have you often wondered how such a large group as our choir runs so smoothly?" Well, the important details that make it so are handled by the following people: robe custodians, Pearl Pearsall, Marietta Mitchell, Doris Moon, Dorothy Beulock, Annette Meade; property managers, John Anderson, Bill Walters; business manager, Betty Lou Long; and pianist, Helen Sanders.

"What A Life" Performance so outstanding that Extra Run Demanded

"What a Life," sighed the student populace of Pontiac Senior High after a hard's work; but this, may I inform you, was before they saw the annual school play of the same title. After that occasion, spirits picked up and the cry became, "What a Life!" and "Boy! did Mr. Viola really put it across." "Bud Pritchard was a wow!" and "Billy Fields really stole the show as Henry Aldrich. If that guy ran out of trouble, he sure knew where to borrow it." This play tells of the trials and tribulations of a typically American mother and son. The scenes take place in the principal's office in Central High School, scenes cleverly constructed by the scenery committee and the male members of the cast under Mr. Viola's direction. For a minute we thought we were in P. H. S.'s office but, oh happy day, Sibyl Dawson's voice brought us back to the auditorium. This play was written by Clifford Goldsmith and was presented before a capacity house for each of its four night run.

If anyone thinks that our school is not up to the minute in the dramatic field, he should have witnessed the Christmas pageant, "The Adoration of the Kings and Shepherds." Carolyn Sommer made a very sincere and lovely Mary while Doris and Winnie were almost too convincing as angels.

"Wienies on Wednesday," — now who thought of that title — also met with great success when it was given by the Playcrafters at the Semi-Annual Parents' Reception in October.

Players Group Has Been Active for Fifteen Years

PLAYCRAFTERS

This year the Playcrafters celebrated their fifteenth anniversary. This makes the club one of the oldest in Pontiac Senior High.

The membership is limited to students who have participated in the school plays, who are members of the scenic committee, or who are enrolled in one of the dramatic classes.

In October, this group sponsored the Semi-Annual Parent's Reception at which time they presented a one-act comedy and a puppet show.

The officers of this club for the first semester were: Lionel Dildy, president; Robert Lange, vice president; Shirley Whitehead, secretary; Barbara Shirley, corresponding secretary; Carolyn Sommers, treasurer. Second semester officers were: Gerald Rustem, president; Harry Bell, vice president; Bob Lange, secretary; Jean McGregor, corresponding secretary; Birdine Jennings, treasurer. Mr. W. N. Viola is the faculty adviser of the club.

MASCULINE MASQUES

"We want a hero! We want a hero!" Well, girls you'll find the heroes in the Masculine Masques Club. This group was organized so that the boys would have a greater opportunity to participate in the dramatic productions. This club is sponsored by Mr. Viola, instructor of speech and dramatics. The officers for the year are as follows: president, Jerry Navarre; vice president, Jerry Rustem; secretary, George Woods; treasurer, Robert Genez.

Stop in at room 255 while the Radio Club is holding a meeting, and you will be asked to complete the above sentence, because the members of Pontiac Senior High School's newest extra-curricular organization are more than likely writing the script of their newest radio presentation over station WCAR.

At the present time there are forty members in the club. The field is divided between script writing and sound effects departments, the latter being the newest phase of broadcasting attempted.

The club is sponsored by Miss Hiller. The officers are president, Emil Hurtik; vice president, Jean McGregor; recording secretary, Mable Ellen Leonard; corresponding secretary, June Batchelor; treasurer, Jean Smith.

FORENSIC SQUAD

"Friends, Romans, and countrymen," we wish you to know that during the past semester the Forensic Squad participated in ninety-one contests with thirty different schools in which forty-three of the fifty-eight members took an active part. Although some of the members were unable to participate in the contests, they received special training in organizing, expressing, and defending their own ideas.

Katherine Condylis, Jean Smith, Lucy Zartarian, Minerva Allen, Koorkin Andonian, Clarence Carlson, Fred Stenbuck, Paul Kern, John Condylis, John Birrell, Herbert Kruus, Howard Allen, Donald Tews, Leonard Kershenbaum, Melvin Keebaugh, and James Moore received letters.

The officers were manager, John Condylis; secretary, June McKinstry; treasurer, Lucy Zartarian, publishing chairman, Jean Smith. Mr. Wood was the faculty adviser.

Chemical Wizards Continue to Mystify Unsuspecting Students

CHEM-PHYSICS CLUB

"Oh dear! I just can't understand it! This blooming atom-smasher worked perfectly before I started demonstrating it." Midst cries of "nya, nya, nya, you can't fool us" from the jeering audience, the embarrassed experimenter finally coaxes the machine to work. But this does not happen very often for the experimenters are well qualified to perform these acts.

While the old members look forward to and plan with anticipation the "super special, extra colossal," horror chamber through which they force the initiates, the new members look forward to this much awaited event with trepidation.

The chemistry and physics students who wish to join this club must go through the hair-raising initiation and perform an experiment before the rest of the club. Besides carrying on interesting experiments during the meetings, oral reports are given and refreshments are served. The purpose of this organization is to circulate lively interest among those who are especially concerned with this field.

In the first semester the club trucked down to the chemistry exhibit and lecture at the University of Detroit. During the spring vacation they went to Greenfield Village.

Officers were as follows:

This year the club entertained the children of Crofoot School in their annual Christmas party and visited the county jail as an additional project. The officers of the club for the first semester were: president, George Woods; vice president, Joyce Johnson; secretary, Mary Eaton; treasurer, Lorraine Smith; program chairman, Archolose Godoshian; social chairman, Perle Hoffman. Second semester officers were: president, Bernadette Farmer; vice president, Joyce Johnson; treasurer, Adeline Buella; co-program chairman, Wanda Cook and Henry Beard; co-social chairman, Marcella Allan and LeMay Solmon.

GOOD NEIGHBOR POLICY INVADES SCHOOL

Learning the South American way is a characteristic of the Pan American Club. To achieve this end an assembly was held which portrayed Spanish music and dances in a gay, colorful manner. The club has obtained flags from many of our American countries as a gesture of the Good Neighbor Policy . . . "Ling Live The Americans" is a familiar poster slogan throughout the halls.

STUDENT SENORES STUDY SPAIN

"South of the border, down Mexico way.' That is where most of the members of the Spanish Club hope to wander someday. The club consists of students enrolled in Spanish classes. Mr. Gray is their sponsor while Carol Jean Peruchi is president; Carmen Roche, vice president; Betty Wheaton, secretary; and Maxine Mason, treasurer.

MATHEMATICIANS INTRODUCE EUCLIDIAN SOCIETY

The Euclidean society, sponsored by Mr. Morris, is a newly organized club in our school. The purpose of this society is to further interest in mathematics. This includes geometric construction of original designs and solid figures, and lectures by guest speakers.

First officers were: president, David Broberg; vice president, Fred Fawcett; recording secretary, Marian Scott; corresponding secretary, Calvin Long; and treasurer, Raymond Ken.

Second semester officers were: president, Calvin Long; vice president, John Broberg; recording secretary, Alice Isaminger; corresponding secretary, Barbara Brown; and treasurer, Kenneth Sands.

FUTURE PEDAGOGUES LEARN HOW

"An apple for the teacher." These girls are planning to be on the receiving end of that apple someday. This club is for students who intend to enter the teaching profession. Members are entertained by speakers, social activities, and a variety of programs. First semester officers were: Archolose Godoshian, president; Bernice Filer, vice-president; Doris Nique, treasurer; Frances Johnson, secretary. Second semester officers were: Anita Haynes, president; Claire Macaulay, vice-president; Helen Harger, secretary; Emily Travis, treasurer. Mrs. Lucas is the sponsor.

USHER CORPS EARN NEW UNIFORMS

"Center section, ninth row, fourteenth seat, in the balcony," might be the direction given you by one of our handsome ushers who are proudly displaying their snappy new uniforms which they earned. These boys lend their services to all school activities. They named Henry Beard, Chief Usher, assisted by James Hodges as secretary, and William Winkley, treasurer. During the second semester these duties were carried on by Rex Murphy, Chief Usher; Alfred Anderson, secretary; and Robert Clark, treasurer.

MERCENARY MATTERS HANDLED BY ACCOUNTANTS

Put down six and carry two. Figures, figures, figures! Cashing checks, depositing money, keeping books, paying bills; these are all in a day's work in the Activity Accounting Department. Money for club treasuries, proms, and other activities are handled here. Mr. Snyder is the faculty manager, and Beulah Cumberworth is head bookkeeper.

LAB. ASSISTANTS BOTTLE CHEMICALS

Recognized at last! The twelve reliable laboratory assistants have been brought out from their modest corner after they have industriously toiled without credit or recognition. These assistants with Helen Duggan at their head may be seen at their work every day, cleaning the laboratory, taking care of the stock, and assisting the students.

ORDERLY BOOKS THEIR AIM

The shop around the corner in Pontiac High happens to be the school bookstore. Paper, pencils, art supplies, workbooks, and many other articles are sold here. Aside from the selling part, this shop contains a lost and found department for lost books. All books issued to teachers are also handled here.

BOOKSTORE BEAUTIES BAG BUYERS

"How do they do it?" is the question asked by our students. "Of all the books in the library, the members of the Vocational Guild can find just the one you want just like that. (Snap) The purpose of the guild is to train assistants in library technique, and they are doing very well under the guidance of Miss Cole and Mrs. Renfrow.

THE THING THAT MAKES IT GO

The staff is the backbone of the instrumental music department. Few are aware of the responsibility put upon the shoulders of this group. Theirs is the work of handling and filing music, scheduling and handling details of rehearsals, and in general, making the band and orchestra click.

TRAFFIC CONTROLLED BY MONITORS

The plain-clothesmen you see patroling our halls during school hours are none other than our fellow students. Unlike policemen, they ask for our blue slips and identification cards instead of giving us tickets.

TEA FOR TWO OR MORE

The old saying is that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. Maybe that is why the girls are so interested in the Home Economics Club.

WITH HAPPY HEARTS AND BRAND NEW LETTERS, THE LETTERMEN AND COACHES LOOK FORWARD TO SUCCESSFUL SEASONS IN FOOTBALL, BASKETBALL, SWIMMING, BASEBALL, TRACK, GOLF AND TENNIS.

Athletics

Pontiac Senior High Athletic Schedule
1939-40

Coaches Lead Pontiac Through Successful Seasons

Harold E. Smead, Director of Physical Education and head football coach, has introduced many new ideas into the athletic picture during his two years at Pontiac. He has produced a winning football team, a welcome change at Pontiac since the Chiefs have been having more than their share of football difficulties during the past seven years. With the cooperation of the Kiwanis Club, he has instituted the "Little Olympics" which will, in time and even this year, raise the caliber of the track team. He has had the marks of all boys competing in athletics posted on a bulletin board. Because anyone may see these marks, low grades are soon raised. He has continued his football gym class so that anyone interested can learn the fundamentals of football. This work has resulted in improved teams, teams that have put Pontiac in the winning column more often.

Harvey W. Norris, basketball, track, and football line coach, has been with Pontiac for eleven years. "Harve" has always managed to turn out a good basketball team, a team that ranks high in the Saginaw Valley League, a consistent winner of the regional title. His track teams have won their share of laurels in cinder competition.

Gustave Bartels, or "Barty" as he is monickered, is primarily the golf coach. The Saginaw Valley League trophy for golf now rests in our trophy case. He also coaches reserve football and reserve basketball. His is the job of preparing the raw material for the big time.

Kline B. Hartman is the oldest of the coaches in the point of service. This year "Hart" aided the 1940 football team. By coaching the reserve squad, he gave the 1940 prospects invaluable advice and pointers. He regularly coaches the swimming team. His team has had an especially successful season for 1939-1940. During the spring he coaches the baseball team.

Ray Hetherington, known to all athletes as "Butch," is the tennis coach who helps coach reserve football. A great deal of the live strength of future teams will be directly attributable to his fine work. Oh, by the way, he also teaches history in his spare time. He pretends to be tough, but always breaks down and becomes a human being.

Lettermen Intimidate Sophs to Sell Pins, Hop Tickets

STRUTTING LETTERMEN

These are the fellows who comprise the Varsity Club — after, of course, having been submitted to a ticklish initiation. (Don't let 'em fool ya — it doesn't tickle anyone but the initiators). These fellows stand in the hall and waylay you, informing you that you're going to buy a football, basketball, or some other kind of pin. The fellows have from ten to twenty of these pins on their sweaters and in half an hour they're all sold. This year unsuspecting sophomores and juniors and incompetent seniors in a physical way were told that they were going to the Varsity Hop. Since tickets were limited, ticket scalpers raised the price from fifty cents to as high as a dollar. George Murphy's Gates swung out to supply the music. The dance was a success with the ginger ale bar going over big. It is hoped that enough tickets will be sold in advance next year to hold the dance in the Boys' gym.

The money earned is used in collaboration with the Hi-Y to sponsor the banquets at which letters are awarded to the athletes. These banquets are held in the cafeteria with prominent coaches as speakers. Bachman, Holsinger, Brazil, and others have spoken in the past.

Earl Taylor was president of the club until January, when Bob Manning took over the duties and Gene Wingate was the secretary-treasurer. Ted Wiersema is the sponsor.

After Seven Years, Football Finishes Season

"Hi-yo, Silver, away!" shouted Coach Harold E. Smead on September 1, 1939, as he jumped on his horse in the person of football, and away football actually went on the run. With everything to gain and nothing to lose after the disastrous season of 1938, the 1939 team won more games than any team in seven years or since Pontiac joined the Saginaw Valley League. This year's football machine is the first Pontiac team to win more games than they lost since 1933 when that team won four, lost three, and tied one. This year's team won five and lost four. In 1932 the Pontiac team played ten games including Orchard Lake and the Alumni and won all the games but two — they lost these two to the only Valley teams they played that year, Flint Central and Flint Northern. Thus the potency of the Saginaw Valley League is easily determined. The 1939 aggregation beat Owosso for the first time in the history of the school. Also this Owosso game was played in the Owosso Muncipal Stadium under lights, the first night game to be played by any Pontiac varsity team that participates in an outdoor sport. This team defeated Port Huron to win back the Little Brown Jug, making the number of times each team has won it, even.

This year's team started out with a bang, leaving the student body dumbfounded as the team won three straight. But we'll let the record speak for itself:

LaBarge holding, Lowry kicking . . . . "In bed before ten boys" . . . . First down and ten to go . . . . As the center sees it . . . . Deibert kicking off for Pontiac . . . . Those hardworking managers . . . . "Who'll I send in now?" Smead seems to be thinking . . . . Dougherty gets his big chance at last . . . . "You see, Bud and Bob, the play goes this way" . . . .

One hundred twenty-five hopefuls, mostly sophomores, turned out for football practice at the opening call this year. Of these some thirty-five remained on the first squad, while the remainder were delegated to the reserves, under coaches Hartman, Bartels and Hetherington.

With the acquisition of head football coach Harold Smead came a new system, assuring every boy really interested in football a chance to play the game. Under the new plan the Papooses are dived into two teams, each team playing a separate schedule, with most of the games away from home. This system's aim is to give more boys actual playing experience and at the same time let them get used to playing under varying field conditions. So far, in actual practice, this plan has worked out very well.

Team A played an eight game schedule, of which they won one game, tied one and lost six. Their single victory, however, was over the Flint Northern reserves. This may mean that the great Viking football machine, perennial champion of the Saginaw Valley conference, finally is bogging down.

Team B fared sowewhat better. After losing the first engagement of a five game campaign they went on the warpath and won the rest of their games, except for a tie with St. Frederick's reserves.

Third Row: Robert Smith, Warren Weldon, Frank Copagnoni, Loy Ledford, Bob Tabor, and Robert Criss.
Fourth Row: Charles Frankenfield, Ross Hulet, Ernest Flippo, Charles Rampart, Harold Hunt, and Chester Swistoski.

Another new note this season was the inauguration of a system of reserve awards. Under this plan, the Little Chieftains may earn numerals, much as the Varsity earns letters. At the football banquet on December twelfth, the following players received their numerals: Loy Ledford, Ross Hulet, Robert Tabor, Robert Gallo, Charles Rampart, Charles Bonham, Frank Copagnoni, Barney Aronson, Robert Criss, Charles Frankenfield, Don Johnson, Phillip Miller, Elmer Moliskey, Nick Palmer, Lawrence Selden, Robert Smith, Junior Strait, Chester Swistoski, Warren Weldon, Jay Clark, Hillard LaFrance, Harry Perks, James Nesbitt, Norman Craven, Rex Bailey, Bill Blaylock, Ben Sweeney, Gerald Storm, Robert Freeman, Claude Edwards, and Ernest Flippo.

'iersema Coaches Cheer Leaders—Worries Over Schedules

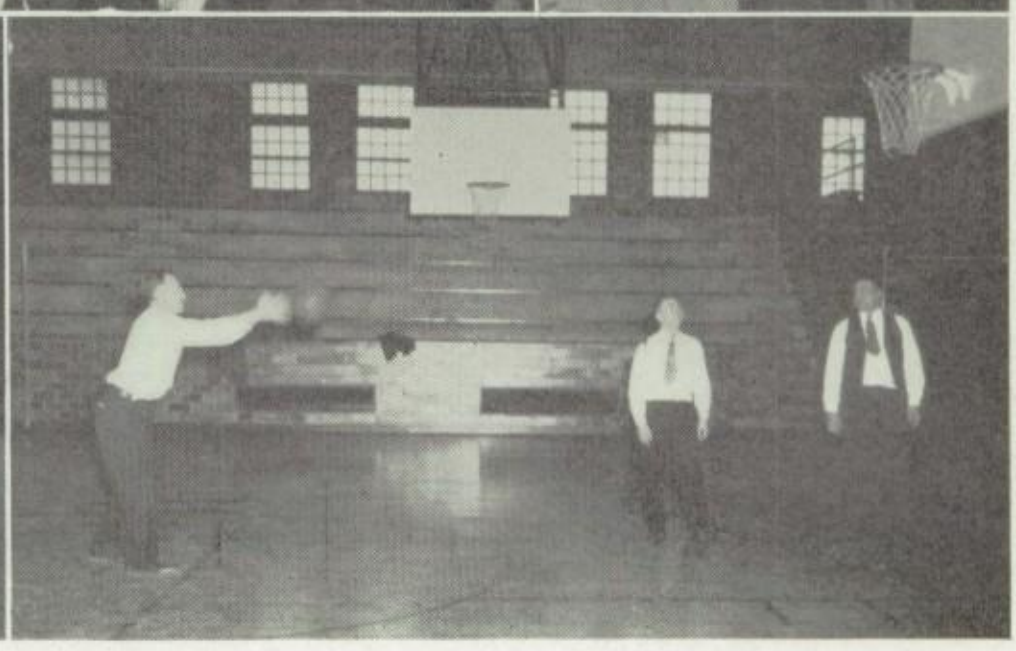
"Have you seen 'Ted'?" gasped a breathless assistant student manager. "He was here just a minute ago," answers one of the office assistants.

This scene takes place at least twice a day and generally oftener for Theodore Ernest Wiersema is one of the most sought after men in the Pontiac Senior High School and, incidentally, one of the hardest to find. You might find him in room 117 where he teaches biology. As faculty manager of athletics he might be in the office telephoning to arrange a tennis, football, or some other such schedule. Or he might be in the stock room issuing uniforms for some sport. You might finally catch up with him in the coaches' office calling Flint or Saginaw to arrange with some restaurant for some team's meals.

Now that you've caught up with him, you'll find him to be a good looking young man. He was born in Chicago around 1903, and attended the J. Sterling Morton High School there. "Ted" graduated from Mount Morris College in 1925 with a B. S. degree and nine letters accumulated from football, basketball, baseball, and tennis. He came directly here and has coached numerous sports, as well as teaching since that time. He coaches the cheer leaders and is known as "Killer" to them. He also sponsors the Varsity Club.

"Ted" is married and has two children, Barbara, four, and Teddy, Jr., two. For relaxation from his school jobs, he works his farm of an acre and a half, on which he lives, milks his goats, and plays with his children.

Theodore "Ted" Ernest Wiersema, himself . . . . The "Killer" and his cheerleading prodigies, Eugene Coons, John Gillespie, Richard Houck, and Adolph Taubman . . . . Worker Wiersema is salting the football jersies away in the moth balls 'til the fall breezes blow again . . . . "Any fish you catch this size should be thrown back in,"—this time it's biology teacher Wiersema speaking . . . . "Theo" demonstrates his prowess as a college basketball player by swishing the nets twelve out of fifteen times as "Hart" and Smead are bewildered.



Basketeers Place Second in Saginaw Valley League

Variety! That's supposed to be the spice of life. In that case Pontiac Senior High School's Varsity Basketball teams are very dead for they stay in the same old rut—the winning column, and this year's team is no exception. The basketeers won the regionals this year for the third time in the last four years. This year was the first time a Pontiac team ever finished as high as second in the Saginaw Valley League. The team won nine out of twelve games in the Valley League and fourteen out of the total eighteen games played, making the best record of any Pontiac basketball team in recent years. Flint Northern again was Pontiac's nemesis. The State Champions defeated Pontiac twice, the first time by a small margin, and the second time on their floor in Captain LaBarge's absence by quite a decided margin. The slogan for next year in any sport should be "Beat Northern."

Roy Clark was high point man in the Saginaw Valley League with 206 points. He was selected on both the All-Valley and the All-State teams. Bob Seay, lanky forward, garnered third place in the Valley scoring and an All-Valley position as well as All-State honors.

Papooses Send Good Prospects to 1941 Varsity

Coach Gustaf Bartels' Papooses completed an only moderately successful season, with a record of five wins and nine losses. Four of these victories, however, were over strong Saginaw Valley league opponents.

Most of the Little Chieftains' games were characterized by a failure to get under way until the closing minutes of the game, by which time it was usually too late for even a strong last-quarter drive to pull the contest out of the fire. This year's team showed spurts of good form from time to time throughout the season, but they seemed to lapse after each spurt. This undoubtedly was due to the inexperience of the squad, which was composed mostly of sophomores, and some good material was developed for next year's Chiefs.

Hitting the hoops for ninety four points, Loy Ledford, Papoose forward, led the Saginaw Valley conference in individual scoring. Center Bill Young also was a consistent scorer. Wilfred Caswell, captain and sparkplug of the team, and Merle Barger, his running mate at guard, were promoted to the first team at the end of the season. Others who showed promise for next year's varsity were forwards Danny Turner and Herb Rowe, and guards York and Whisnant.

Swimmers Splash Through Best Season in Years

Pontiac Senior High's mermen, under the expert tutelage of Coach Kline Hartman, splashed through their most successful season in years, winning eight out of twelve dual meets and placing fifth in a fast regional meet.

Individual high scoring honors went to free-style artist Gene Wingate, who piled up eighty-nine points in the course of the regular season. He was followed in order by Eugen Schlaack, back-stroker, Walt Thomas, breast-stroker, and Merton Church, another free-styler.

High lighting the natators' activities were the efforts of Eugene "Slats" Schlaack, husky red headed back-stroker who moved here last spring from Mount Clemens. "Slats" paddled his way to victory in all twelve dual meets, and placed first in the regionals. He set a new record for the Pontiac High School pool in the one-hundred yard back-stroke event for this season. Walt Thomas, Merton Church, and Schlaack made up the medley relay team that broke existing pool records here and in the regional meet at Fordson.

Next season's team will be greatly crippled by graduation, but "Hart" is planning to build his squad around Howell, who did very well in his first year of competition diving, Strait and Church in the free-style events, and Poole in the breast-stroke. Strait and Poole are sophomores who saw action this year and who showed great promise.

Cinder Eaters Have Four Lettermen Back for 1940

There! There! There! There! That sounds like a mother consoling a crying babe but really it is the place where all Pontiac Senior High School track meets are held for there is no track at this school, consequently our track schedule looks like this:

April	19	Flint Northern-Central	There
April	23	Cranbrook	There
April	26	Birmingham	There
May	4	Ann Arbor	There
May	7	Mount Clemens	There

Therefore all practicing is done on that hard dusty Crofoot field amid baseball out fielders chasing fly balls. There's scarcely room for the 100 yard dash much less 120 yard flight of high hurdles or 220 yard long hurdles. Therefore we shall label the track men the "Dust Men."

Last year's team won two meets and lost two and placed fourth in the Saginaw Valley League. Four of the boys who helped do this are back this year with monograms. They are Bob Lowry, captain and dashman, Ed Murphy, hurdler and high jumper, Johnny Sharako, shot putter, and "Red" Danielson, pole vaulter. There was quite a response of sophomores to the track call this spring "due largely," Coach Norris attributes, "to the Junior Olympics which started an interest in track among junior high students."

Dust, Pebbles, and Short Fields Hamper Baseballers

Crofoot Field, where our baseballers cavort each spring, is one of Mr. Kline B. Hartman's major headaches. "Hart," as coach of the baseball team, must sit and watch easy flies drop over the short left field fence for ground-rules doubles, while his infielders peer through choking clouds of dust, trying to get set for grounders that may at any time hit stones in the grass-less diamond and take weird bounces.

Pontiac Senior High School's baseball team plays one-half of its schedule under these conditions while the opponents encounter them only occasionally, but despite this handicap the Chiefs managed to pound out four victories last spring while encountering five set-backs, for an average of .444.

Winners of the coveted monogram for the 1939 season were Bowers, Clark, Deibert, Farms (Honorary captain), Hafer, LaBarge, Pelton, Pike, Reed, Temple, and Howerth (Manager).

Lettermen returning this year are Clark, Hafer, LaBarge, and Temple, and as there is a good crop of underclassmen to pick from, the ballhawks expect to improve their average this year and close the campaign with more figures in the all-important "games won" column.

A new schedule goes into effect this season. As Owosso has withdrawn its baseball team from conference competition this year, there are now six teams competing for the Saginaw Valley League Crown. For the first time in years, each club will meet twice with each other team in the league, in a home-and-home series. In addition, the Chieftains will tangle twice with St. Mary's of Orchard Lake, and once with Keego Harbor.

Linksmen Finish 1939 Season with .600; 1940?

With an impressive record for 1939 of nine wins and five losses in fourteen starts, this year's golf team will have something to shoot at. The linksmen of last year won six out of ten Saginaw Valley League starts and placed third in the regionals. But again as in other sports Flint Northern was the nemesis of the Chieftains defeating them twice. What's to be done about Flint Northern? The answer to this question is up to the 1940 squad of club swingers.

The 1940 linksmen have but one letterman back in the person of Tony Pinho, the captain. Approximately thirty candidates turned out and, of these, eight to ten will be selected.

Each boy has a chance to shoot eighteen holes and, from the records gathered, those eight with the lowest scores are chosen to represent Pontiac Senior High School. The team practices at the Pontiac Municipal Golf Course and the home matches are played there.

Second Row: R. Blazo, B. Clark, M. Keebaugh, B. Aronson, C. Swistoski, B. O'Hearn, Mr. Hetherington.

Although last season's record book does not tell a cheerful tale, neither does it tell a complete one. The three lonely checks on the "Meets won" side of the ledger hardly balance the eight losses, but a number of promising sophomores came up last year, and with more seasoning, experience, and a fair share of luck they should contribute greatly to the cause this year.

The 1939 lettermen were Keith Nicolls, Roy Nelson, Daniel Murphy, Richard Blazo, Chester Swistoski, John Ellsworth, Richard Foust, and Melvin Keebaugh, manager.

Of this imposing list only three boys return for the 1940 campaign, but they are all juniors. They are "Dutch" Blazo, Dan Murphy, and Chet Swistoski, and it is to these veterans that Coach Ray Hetherington is looking to come through with some victories.

Another heartening note is the large number of sophomores who turned out on the opening day. Of the thirty-four prospective racketeers out for the sport, twenty-six are tenth-graders, and in the words of Coach Hetherington, (who is usually the school's worst and most confirmed pessimist) "they are the most promising bunch we've ever had."

All in all, after the near-disastrous season of 1939, Pontiac Senior High tennis fans can look forward this year to a renewal of the "winning ways" of teams of several seasons ago.

Girls Put Emphasis on Mass in Dancing, Games....

Mary Smith, a 10-B, finds herself assigned to gym III. The first day she has a posture test. If she fails this test, she attends Individual Corrective Gym, taking exercises to remedy posture where she meets Miss Waterman or Miss Wyman. As Mary goes from gym III to VIII she learns athletic, national folk, English country, tap, American country, and the modern dance, respectively. As for games the emphasis is put on mass, for the average gym class numbers over one hundred. The classes are divided into teams for volley-ball and winning teams of each class compete after school for the championship. The next sport, chronologically, is basketball and two nights after school each week are reserved for those interested in this sport. Mass bowling was introduced so that, with what equipment was on hand, an interest for the recreation when an adult could be created. Anyhow, we hope that Mary Smith will be able to keep the bowling score for her future husband. In the spring a variety of activities confront Mary. The classes are divided into squads which rotate during the period from badminton, ping pong, deck tennis, softball, target throwing, shuffleboard, to rope jumping stunts. However, she can take swimming under Miss Sundling's tutelage in place of gym. There are two classes of swimmers, the beginners and the intermediates. Diving is compulsory. There is also an advanced class in swimming of which most of the members competed in girls' swimming meet held last fall, the Dolphins defeating the Sharks 60-43.

January Senior Class Officers Were High Rating

The president of the January Senior class is Richard Selden. Popular with everyone, he has been very active during his three years in this school. He served on the decorations committee for the J-hop, was a member of the swimming team, and the Hi-Y. Dick was elected to the National Honor Society.

The vice-president of the class is Mark Fisher. Mark was a member of our football team, Hi-Y, and National Honor Society. His quiet capability has won for him the respect of all.

Frank Rand was elected secretary of the class. Frank was a member of the Chem-Physics club, the Hi-Y, and the National Honor Society. He was on the football team, and the swimming team. He served as president of his homeroom for one semester.

Glenden Rayner was made the treasurer of the January class. Glenden has been exceptionally active in the school. Her vivacious character is known to all. Glenden was in the History Club, Girls Pep Squad, and was elected to the National Honor Society. She served on the patrons committee for the junior prom, and was president of her homeroom. Her hobby is saving pennies.

Deserving Seniors Receive Membership in Honor Society

Each semester it is the privilege of Mr. Thors to announce the names of those who have been selected by the faculty to become members of the National Honor Society.

Membership in this society is based on character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Election to the National Honor Society is the highest honor our school can grant to its students. It is given only to those who have studied diligently, led intelligently, and served faithfully.

These students are in the upper one third of their class in scholarship; they are the leaders in our school activities; and they are the essence of all production in the school, for they are the workers.

Those of the January Senior class elected to the National Honor Society are: Robert Bauchat, Marietta Beach, Darlene Bowman, Margaret Dohner, Sylvia Forbes, Agnes Fortney, Perle Hoffman, John Kay, Inez MacAdams, Mildred Pickering, Frank Rand, Glenden Rayner, Harriet Easton, Mary Armstrong, Pearl Pearsall, Marietta Mitchell, Betty Sullivan, Mary Eaton, Gloria Beatty, Mark Fisher, Keith Nicolls, Richard Selden, Alice Stevenson.

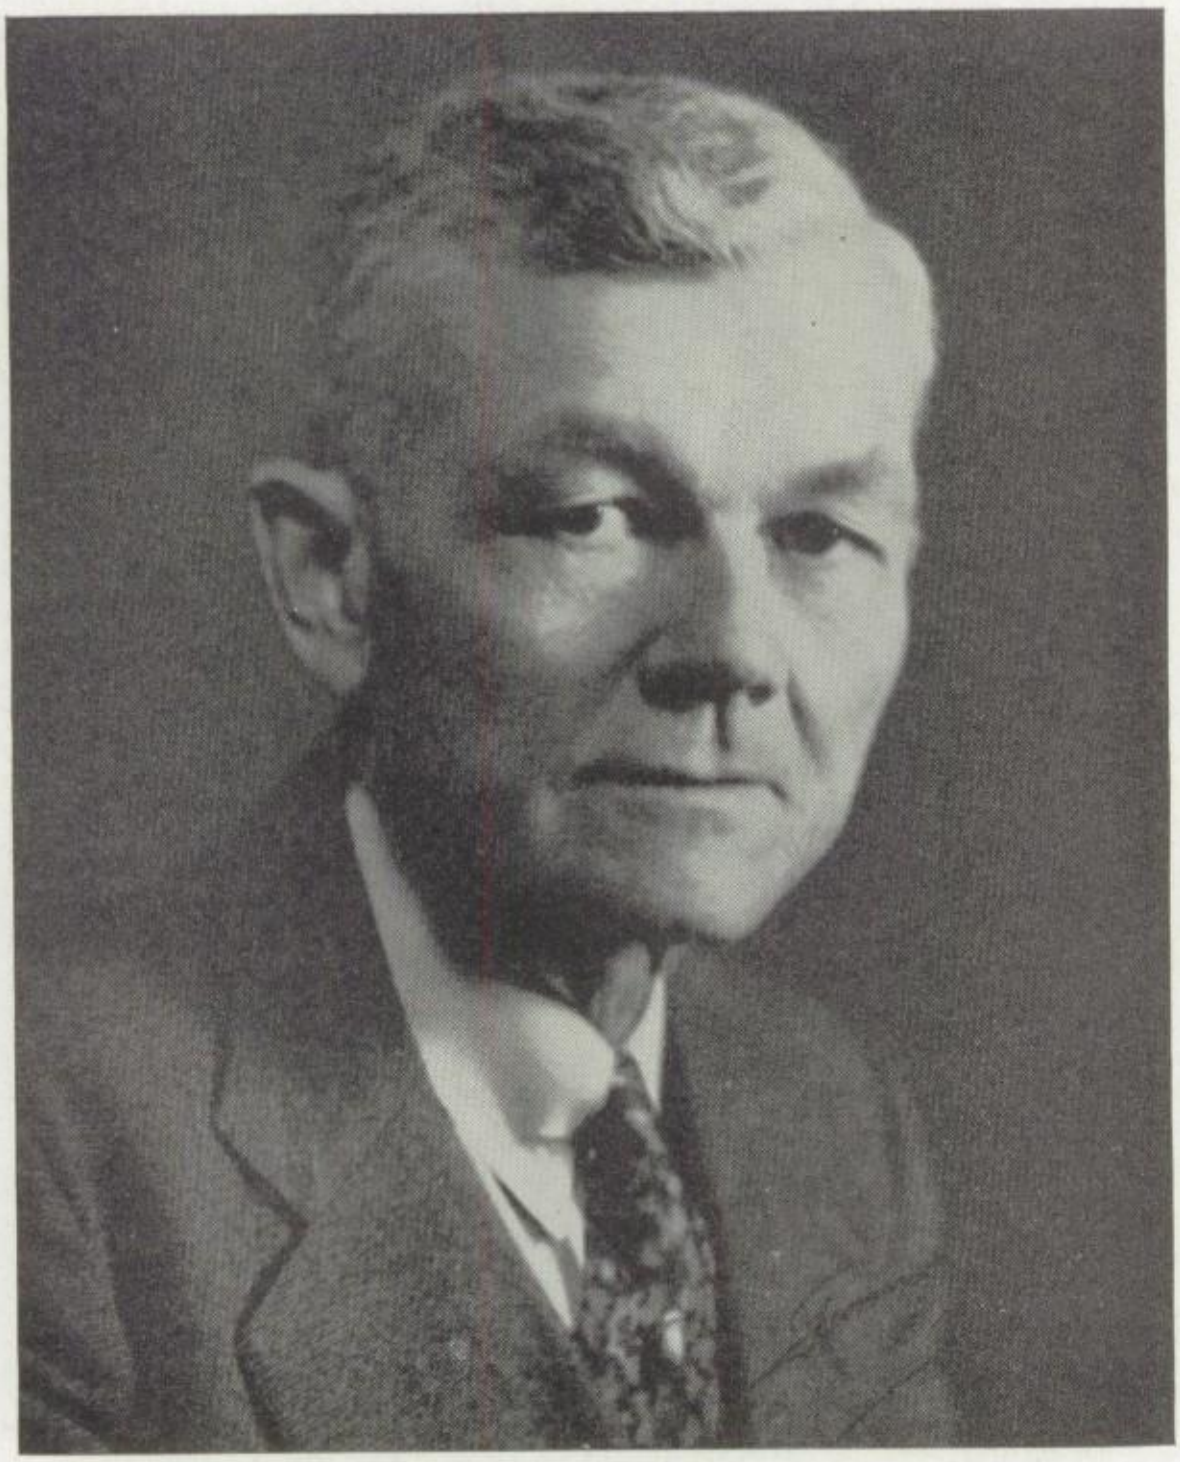
Scholarship

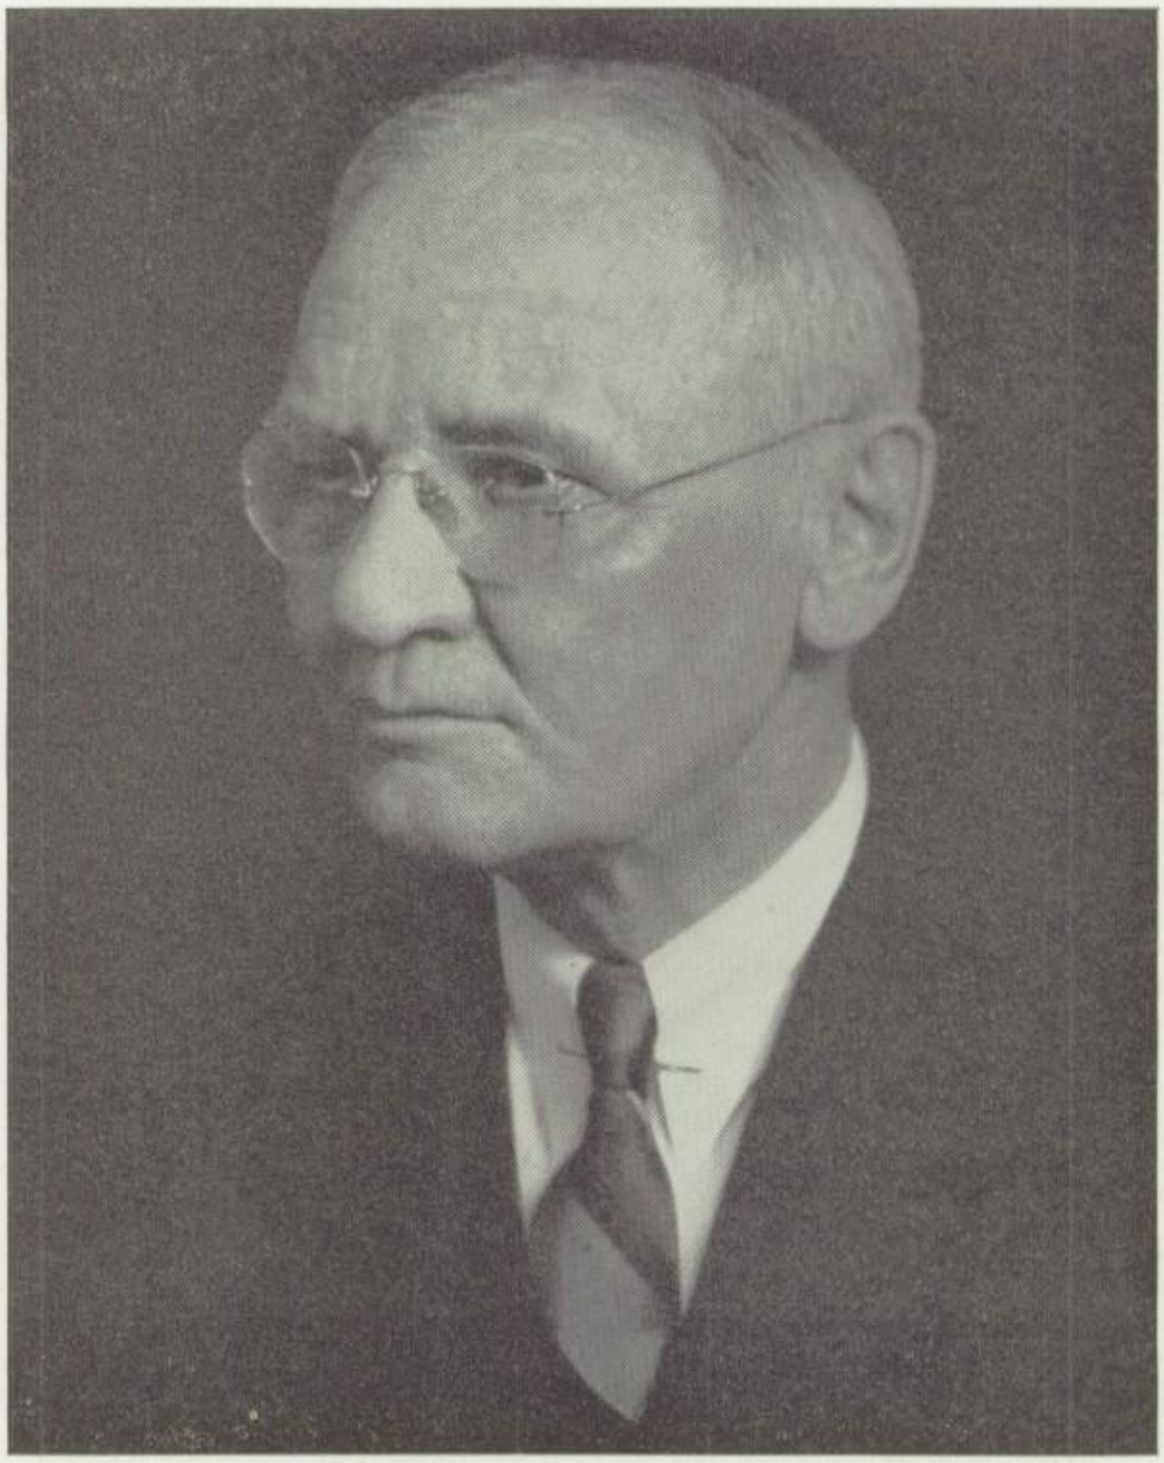
Service, character, leadership and scholarship are qualifications for membership in the National Honor Society. They are also the basis for giving recognition to two of our leaders, Mr. James H. Harris and Mr. Orville S. Powers.



MR. ORVILLE S. POWERS

Mr. Powers came to Pontiac Senior High School in 1919 after attending Ohio State Normal College and Miami. He has taught algebra, general science and biology. He will retire this year.

Mr. Harris became the superintendent of the Pontiac schools in 1919 and served 19 years. He retired in 1939. The Board of Education gave him the title of Superintendent Emeritus.



MR. JAMES H. HARRIS

Scholarship

For many years they have served our school admirably, whole-heartedly and faithfully. For this loyal devotion to the cause of better citizenship through education we offer our sincerest appreciation.

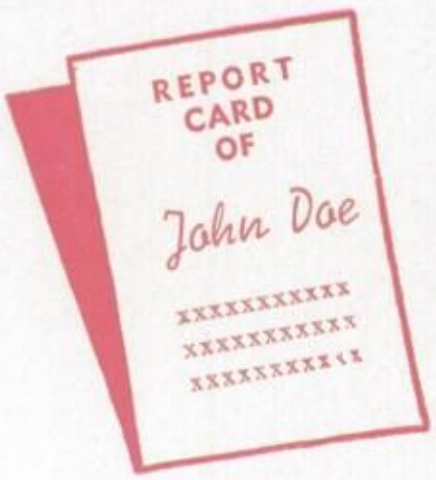
Shirley Whitehead, Clarence Carlson, Joyce Johnson, Barbara Brown.

Leaders of Largest Graduation Class in School History

Clarence Carlson, taking first place in the American Legion Oratorical contest, represented the state of Michigan in the regional contest held in Illinois. He is manager of the Student Union Staff. During his high school career, he has been active in the debate department, Chem-Physics Club, and Hi-Y. As an award for his achievements he was elected a member of the National Honor Society.

Vice president Barbara Brown hails from Lincoln Junior High School where she earned her L and guard. She is January class editor of the Quiver, active member of Girl Reserves, Future Teachers, and corresponding secretary of the Euclidean Society. A member of the Student Union Staff, Barbara was elected to the National Honor Society.

Shirley was vice president of Lincoln Junior High. At high school, being a president of her homeroom twice, she was a member of the Student Council. She is active in the speech department and a member of Playcrafters.



Joyce Johnson is not only treasurer of the senior class, but also treasurer of the Girl Reserves, treasurer of Chem-Physics, and treasurer of the Pan American League. She is vice president of the History Club and a former member of Student Council. The National Honor Society accepted her as a member.

Seniors Rewarded by Membership in National Honor Society

Forty-nine deserving students of the senior class were elected to the National Honor Society. This honor is the highest offered to a student in his three years of industriols work.

A list of the upper one-third of graduating seniors is submitted to the faculty. The faculty nominates those who are outstanding in character, service, leadership, and scholarship. A list of those nominated are sent to the faculty committee made up of activity advisors, 12-B and 12-A homeroom teachers, and the permanent National Honor Society Committee. They determine the final list of members, which is as follows: Christine Agorgianitis, Esther Allen, Thais Anderson, Jirair Andonian, Patricia Archer, Kathleen Astley, Marian Baskette, Beverly Bemm, Fael Bertram, Rachel Bonacci, Barbara Bouma, Barbara Brown, Carl Brown, Charles Buck, Clarence Carlson, Audrey Clunk, Beulah Cumberworth, Sibyl Dawson, Helen Duggan, Katherine Evans, Bernadette Farmer, Bernice Filer, Archolose Godoshian, Avis Gratz, Anita Haynes, Howard Howerth, Marjorie Hulslander, Joyce Johnson, Linda Lee Keith, Phyllis Kinney, Shirley Kuenzer, Betty Lou Long, Jean McGregor, Idylia Mihay, Lucille Moyer, Alice Olson, Jewell Peterson, Maxine Peterson, Henry Pfueffer, Robert Potts, Ruth Ann Roat, Gerald Rustem, Lila Sanchez, Anne Shortt, Carolyn Sommer, Fred Stenbuck, David Striffler, Kathleen Teng, Edith Whitfield.

CLASS WILL AND PROPHECY
Fred Stenbuck

400 students are exposed to  this year . . . . McDermet, Whitfield, and win at at your beck and call . . . .

circulated with. . . . "Gone with the Wind" vigor . . . . Officers announce numerous committees . . . . High order of National accepts new members . . . . Orders for announcements and programs committees . . . . First time in three years no program made for semester . . . . "Gone with the Wind" serves as motif for senior prom . . . . Class measured for gowns . . . . Too many are acquired midnight over exams.

Barbara Brown closely watches Fred Stenbuck to see that he doesn't let the cider over pour . . . . Once in a life time Miss Shortt is either serious or is she just bored with life . . . . Ever since this picture was snapped Kay Teng has been on the wagon . . . . The famous Kern grin . . . . Our prom chairman, Bob Potts, did more than just supervise the decorations—he even helped Isabel and Marion tie peach blossoms on a tree . . . . How many N.H.S. members can ever forget the hauntings of Mr. Steffek in his efforts to take a successful picture . . . . Oh, Glenn, what did the photographer ever do to you that you should want to spring on him? . . . . From all backward appearances, Earl should have turned around—quick! . . . . Strutt your stuff, Howard . . . . What serious moods for a couple of Sweeds, Joyce Johnson and Clarence Carlson . . . . I wonder what the object of Helen Duggan's observance is . . . . Barbara Brown seems intent upon making a sandwich out of that bun and hot dog . . . . How strange to see star basketball player, namely Bob Seay, in an inactive pose . . . . Flash! Shirley Kuenzer washes feet in rickety tub at Watkins Lake . . . .

Able Janitorial Staff Keeps Building Clean and Orderly

"How do you worka John? I pusha da broom around." This might apply to some people; but the work of our janitorial staff is much more extensive. Alex (To a Field Mouse) Atkins leads this industrious staff and has been an employee of Pontiac Senior High School for the past eleven years. His staff consists of eight members.

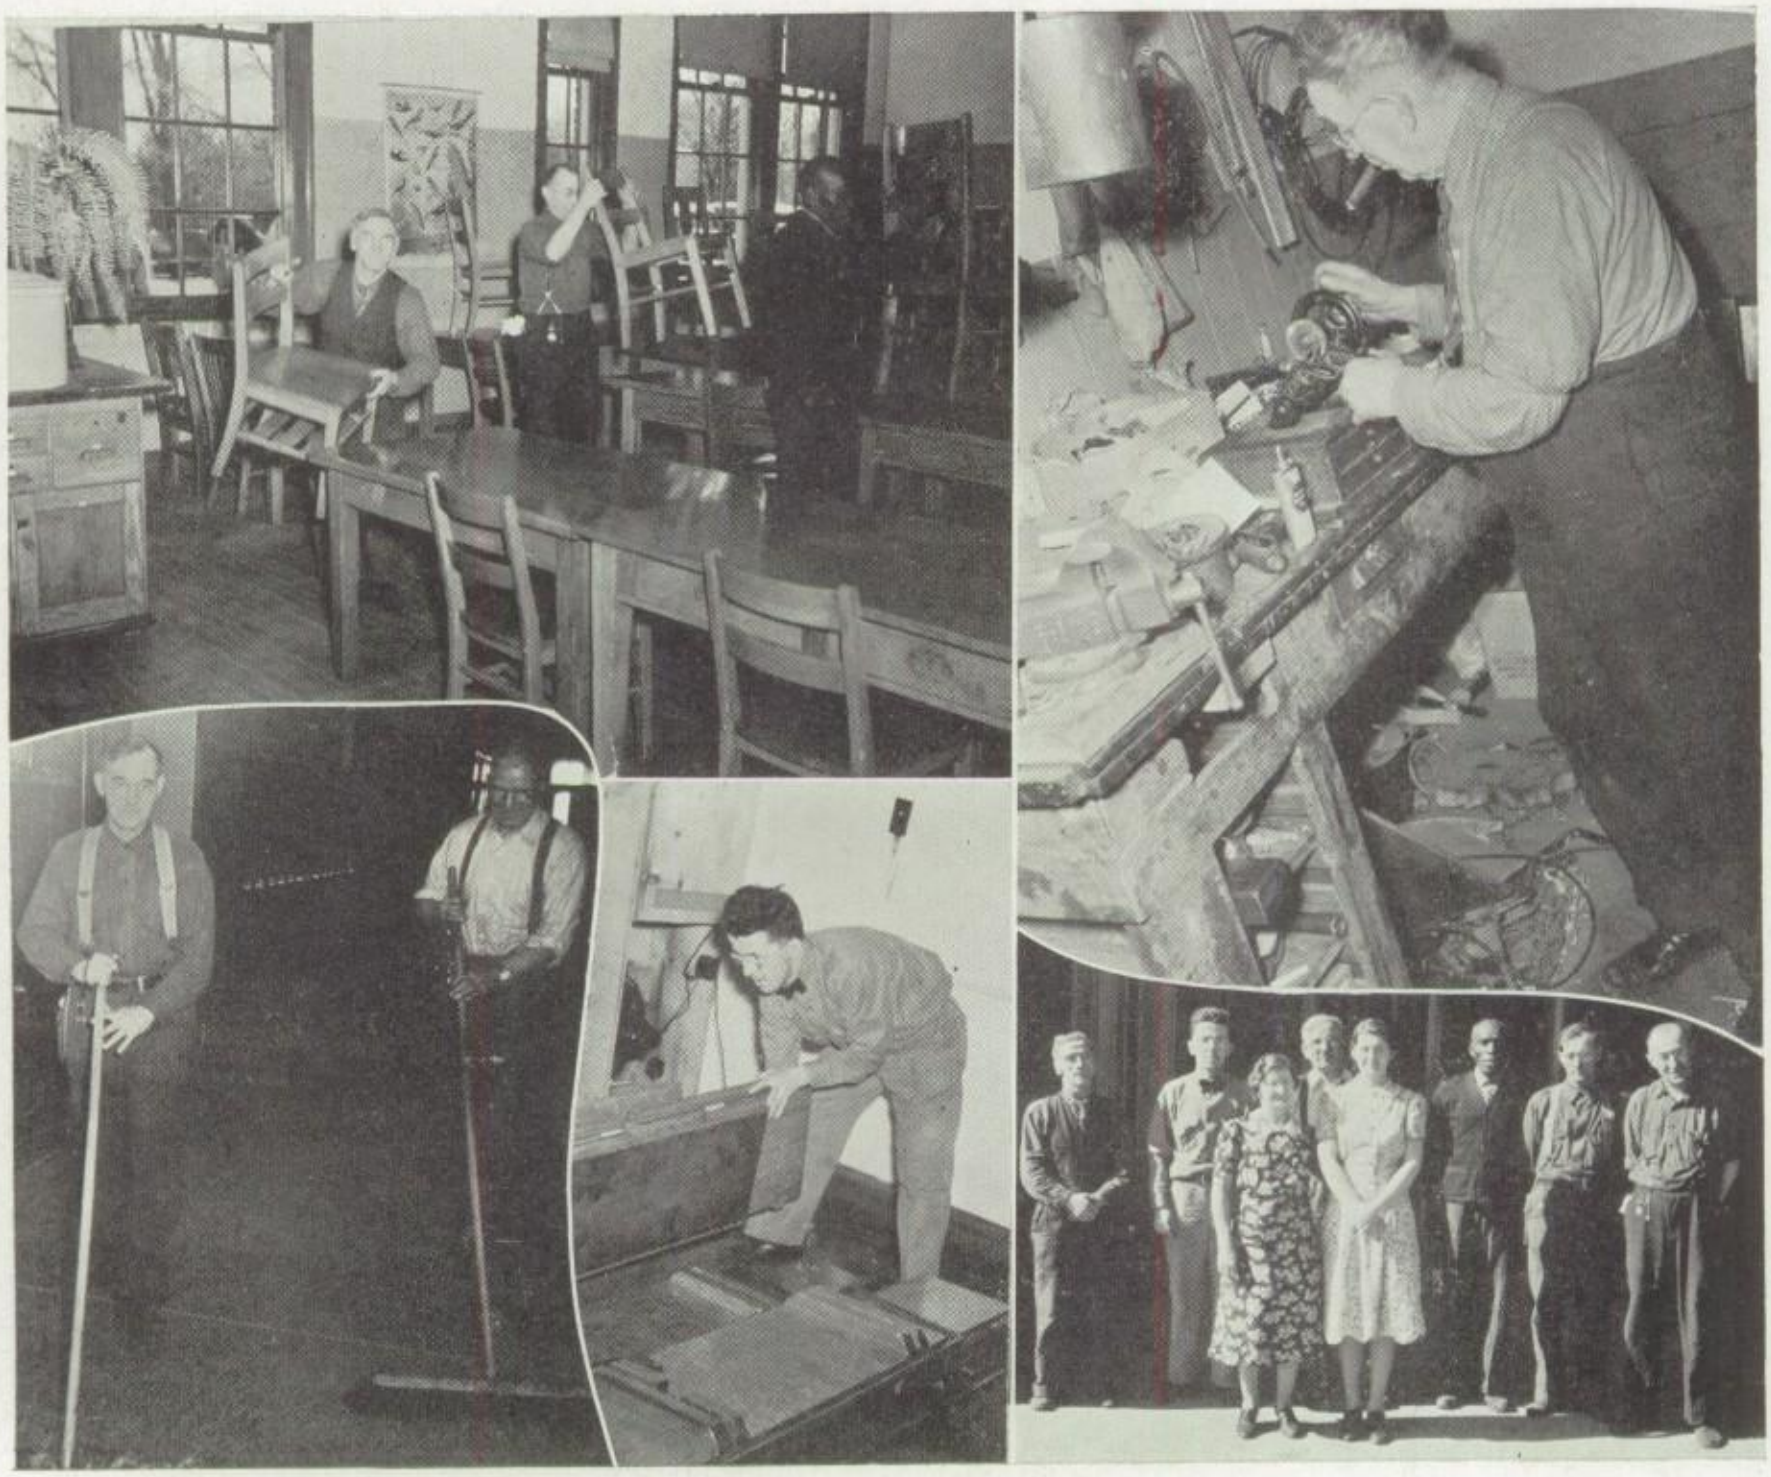
Thomas Hyde, who has charge of the offices, has been at Pontiac Senior High School for twenty years.

The boys' gym has been kept in order by George Prooan for the past seven years.

Ernest Goodell, in the school service for the last thirteen years, keeps the third floor in order while John Bennett is in charge of the industrial building.

C. A. Plumb is our night watchman who keeps the swimming pool in order.

Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Schultz ably represent the women in the girls' locker room and on the main floor respectively.



Cooks Stack Sandwiches, Salads; Students Help with "Extras"

Did you ever wonder who was responsible for the tasty lunches served every day in the cafeteria? To learn the answer to this you must go behind the counter and take a sneak preview of an average morning's work.

Mrs. Lee is manager and can be seen supervising the work of Mrs. Mogg, general helper; Mrs. Wilson, dining room; Mrs. MacDermid—she's responsible for producing those elegant salads; Mrs. La Clear, pastry; and Mrs. Smith, cook. These ladies have served from 3 to 12 years on the cafeteria staff.

This work is not easy as you would realize if you could see the stacks of sandwiches that must be made every day, more than 500. To add to the confusion of back stage, 200 salads of 12 different varieties must be prepared.

During the lunch periods the following students assist the cafeteria women: Betty Lou Long, cashier; Felicity LaFortune, candy case and supplementary lunches; Hazel Gutzke, food server; Eva Mae Fockler silver polisher; Harry Perks and Howard Barling, ice cream; and Russell Bedwell, lunch stand at the boys gym. Two of these girls, Betty Lou Long and Hazel Gutzke, were assistants when they were in junior high school.
